Following the installation of the officers the meeting adjourned and at 9 o'clock the dancing began. The barn in which the dancing was held was prettily decorated with red and white bunting and large red belis were hung from the ceiling. It was a genuine old fashioned barn dance and everyone present was dressed in accordancy with the evening. The young ladies appeared in white and checkered aprons, large supbonnets and braided hair, while the young men were decked in overalls, bandanna neckerchiefs and wide brimmed straw hats. Following the old custom the music was furnished by a fidder and a cornectist, and, the base was lighted by lanterns.
